

Here again is the article from The Guardian (a liberal, left-leaning British newspaper) with its writer's view of the Daily Star. The last few paragraphs are the most important for our purpose.

<http://www.guardian.co.uk/commentisfree/2011/feb/14/daily-star-crude-propaganda>

Here also is a link to tell you more about the English Defence League and the Daily Star's alleged support for it as a political organisation.

<http://www.guardian.co.uk/media/greenslade/2011/feb/10/dailystar-english-defence-league>

---

Read the above first, and then choose one of the links below to find out more about this newspaper.

I have been through the last 2 months of stories containing the word 'Muslim', and have tried to give a fair representation of stories that sum up what appears to be the general views held by the paper regarding Muslims.

Please access the site and do your own research into the content of these stories to see if this is indeed a fair representation.

Link 1

<http://www.dailystar.co.uk/posts/view/175764/English-Defence-League-We-ll-stand-up-and-fight-for-Britain-s-brave-heros/>

Link 2

<http://www.dailystar.co.uk/posts/view/176588/EDL-Not-in-my-name-says-hero/>

Link 3

<http://www.dailystar.co.uk/posts/view/175072/Muslims-snub-war-hero/>

Link 4

<http://www.dailystar.co.uk/posts/view/174193/1-in-10-will-be-Muslim-in-20-years/>

Link 5

<http://www.dailystar.co.uk/posts/view/173827/Muslim-cabbie-bans-a-mum-for-having-beer/>

Link 6

<http://www.dailystar.co.uk/posts/view/172763/Muslim-girl-told-Wear-the-veil-or-I-ll-kill-you/>

After reading and comparing these stories, what do you think?

- Is the Daily Star biased against Muslims? If so, how?
- If not, what makes you think its point of view is more inclusive?
- Is it a propaganda arm of the English Defence League? Again, show evidence.

After you have done all of the above work - and only then! - read the article below:

<http://www.guardian.co.uk/media/2011/mar/04/daily-star-reporter-quits-protest>