

Model for Short Story Genre

FICTION

A short story can be read at one sitting; has few main characters; usually has one setting and one main conflict; often finishes with a punch-line.

Short story writers choose a style that suits their narrative purpose and content.

COMPONENTS

